Vegetable Power | Science project | Education.com We already know that potatoes can be used to power LED lights, and setting up a working light in a potato will help you determine whether you are constructing the vegetable powered light correctly. Make an incision in one side of the potato just large enough for the penny to fit inside. The History of Fruits & Vegetables | Garden Guides Vegetables, more specifically annuals including peas and grains, were likely the first food crops to be domesticated. Early Civilizations. Like all good ideas, eventually it grew. First, there was a system of bartering goods and services for their relative value. Fruits and vegetables were used for this purpose in many cases.
